

Reg. No. :

Name :

Third Semester LL.M. Degree Examination, March 2017

Branch : Constitutional Law

Paper – IV : CIVIL AND POLITICAL RIGHTS IN THE CONSTITUTION

Time : 3 Hours

Max. Marks : 75

Instructions: 1) Answer all questions.
2) All questions carry equal marks.

- I. a) Trace out the salient differences between International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) and the International covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR).

OR

- b) The Indian legal system has internalised the essence of UDHR and the 1966 covenants by incorporating them in our Constitution. Comment.

- II. a) Examine the protection provided under the Human Rights Act, 1993 for Civil and Political Rights.

OR

- b) Illustrate with latest case laws on the reasonableness of restrictions on the freedom of association and assemble with respect to trade unions.

- III. a) Examine the role of the Judiciary in protecting civil and political rights provided under the Indian Constitution.

OR

- b) Critically evaluate the role of the judiciary in giving new content to “right to life” under Article 21 of the Indian Constitution.

- IV. a) Examine the effectiveness of judicial remedies in the area of civil and political rights.

OR

- b) Right to judicial remedies vis-a-vis Public Interest Litigation. Comment.

- V. a) Examine the constitutional guarantee of civil and political rights and its reasonable restrictions.

OR

- b) Give a brief account on International Conventions and Policies on Civil and Political Rights.