

Reg. No. :

Name :

Second Semester LL.M. Degree Examination, November 2018

Branch : CONSTITUTIONAL LAW

Paper – I : Constitutional Principles

Time : 3 Hours

Max. Marks : 75

Instruction : Answer all questions. All questions carry equal marks.

- I. A) Do you agree that the internal and external sovereignty of India has been challenged by globalisation and critically analyse the policies adopted by India in tune with globalisation which affected the sovereign power of the Indian State.

OR

- B) What is parliamentary sovereignty and examine how far modern constitutions have incorporated the same ? Give a comparative perspective of Indian and British position.

- II. A) How you differentiate federalism and federation and compare the federal features of Indian and American Constitutions.

OR

- B) Differentiate different types of Constitutions in the light of the view expressed by K.C. Wheare and explain the salient features of Indian Constitution.

- III. A) "The Government must be based on principles of law and not of men". Explain the statement and examine the measures adopted in India for the realisation of the principle of rule of law.

OR

- B) Explain the theoretical basis of separation of powers and see how far Indian Constitution has adopted the principles of separation of powers.

IV. A) Critically analyse the scope and nature of Art. 13 of the Indian Constitution. Give a comparative analysis of the Constitutional position in US and India on judicial review.

OR

B) Do believe that Judiciary is the guardian of fundamental rights and suggest measures for the better protection of fundamental rights in India.

V. A) Critically evaluate the constitutional position in India for ensuring secular state and discuss the need of safeguarding secularism in the light of recent developments in India.

OR

B) Is there any legal vacuum in protecting human rights in India ? Give an account of the effectiveness of mechanisms functioning in India for the protection of human rights. (5×15=75 Marks)