ABOUT THE INSTITUTIONS AND CENTRES

NATIONAL LAW SCHOOL OF INDIA UNIVERSITY BENGALURU

NLSIU was the first National Law University established in India in 1986. The premier law school was set up with a mission to pioneer legal education reforms, and to anchor the transformation of the Indian legal system through research and policy interventions. And for over 30 years now, the University has irrefutably remained a leader in the field of legal education in the country. This long-standing record has been possible due to the strong collaborations between legal academics, the Bar, the Bench and the State Government of Karnataka.

The Centre for Environmental Law, Education, Research and Advocacy (CEERA) established in 1997 is a research centre that focuses on research and policy advocacy in the field of environmental law. Building an environmental law database, effectively networking among all stakeholders, undertaking training and capacity development exercises, providing consultancy services and building an environmental law community are CEERA's main objectives. INTRODUCTION

The creation of waste is inevitable for every person and business across all sectors, including residential, commercial, industrial, construction, agriculture and more. The number one dilemma waste presents are how to dispose of it, hence why effective waste disposal is so critical. Disposing of waste produced is a huge logistical task, comprising of local authorities and municipal collections as well as private companies and outsourced management plan. Effective waste management comes in many forms according to the scale or scenario of waste creation; i.e., effective waste disposal can be as minimal as individuals putting waste in a bin and not littering. On a larger scale, effective waste disposal can be huge waste producers ensuring their waste is disposed of in an ethical or sustainable way.
